YOLO may also refer to "You Only Look Once", an object detection algorithm in computer vision. YOLO is a real-time approach that uses a convolutional neural network (CNN) to detect and classify objects in a single pass. This is different from previous methods, which required multiple passes or two-step processes.